What is the AIA Silicon Valley?

The Silicon Valley Chapter of the American Institute of Architects (AIA SVC) is a professional organization incorporated on August 10, 1955 that serves the local architect, promotes architecture and the built environment within Santa Clara County.

We provide resources to the community for professional development and education, and serve as a vital link to local professionals, as well as other Chapter components of the AIA.

Organizationally, the Chapter is a local membership organization with about 550 professional members. It is incorporated as a 501(c)6 Nonprofit Corporation.

The AIA is the VOICE of the architectural profession and is the RESOURCE for its members in service to society.

We welcome you to participate and engage with our organization to gain targeted access to over 250 architecture and design professionals through our upcoming Architectural Intelligence Symposium at the Computer History Museum on April 19, 2022.

What is the AI.22 Symposium?

The AIA Silicon Valley Chapter presents AI.22, the Architectural Intelligence Symposium, that will inspire and inform architects and professional allies as we transform today’s Concepts into Future realities. As we answer the call to lead and innovate our work in Silicon Valley, we are shaping the region and influencing the world.

This third in a series of biennial, one-day symposia will examine challenges and solutions to some of the most pressing issues facing our industry. The AI.22 Symposium is co-hosted by the Chapter’s Women in Architecture Committee (WIA), and the Programs Committee. Together, we are focusing the discussion on Equity, Sustainability, and Inspiration. These three session tracks will provide learning and growth opportunities, while the lineup of exceptional speakers will inspire and connect attendees to a greater purpose.

Please join us April 19. Your participation in this event as a sponsor and/or exhibitor demonstrates your position as a thought-leader and a source of trusted information to the design community.
